HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughing at on account of your fat, but go to Butt's, Inc., or any good druggist, and get a box of Oil of Kerein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body.

It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.

GOUGHAN WOMAN SAYS SHE SAW MASSACRES HERE

Mrs. Ida Powell Priest Gives Blood-curdling Interview to New York World About Alleged Indian Atrocities.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
(By Guthrie Smith.)

Santa Fe, N. M., May 22.—Albuquerque, the scene of Indian butcheries in recent years, "impossible," exclaims all New Mexico, stunned and horrified. But it is not impossible, according to a distinguished personage who declares that "not so many years ago" she was in Albuquerque when the massacres occurred. From her insistence that the women of today be taught to defend themselves and their families in time of need, it might reasonably be inferred that these butcheries in Albuquerque any day.

Mrs. Ida Powell Priest, marshal and president of the American Woman's League for Self Defense, so informs the readers of the New York World. The interview with the World on the day of the great parade and demonstration for preparedness. The part which relates to New Mexico and concerns New Mexicans is as follows:

What Mrs. Priest Says.
"Blood and iron must have been the food of my childhood," declares Mrs. Priest, who is short and plump and has, with flaxen blonde hair. "Before I was nine years old handling firearms was my greatest pleasure. Every morning I would skip off from our home in the north woods of New York state to my uncle's home, where there was a large shot gun. With full powder horn and lunch crammed into my pockets, I would trudge through the woods all day, shooting at birds and trees."

A Harrowing Tale.
"What makes me a preparedness enthusiast now is my conviction that women should be able to defend themselves in time of danger. Not so many years ago I lived in Albuquerque, N. M., a border town but a short distance from the scene of the recent Mexican raids. This region was infested with Indians, and I have sometimes seen white women staggering through the streets, crazed, after having seen their families murdered. The Indians would lie in wait for the men folk, who would be trapped and murdered. These scenes made me heart and soul for teaching women to defend themselves and their families in time of danger."

This will be news to all the citizens of the southwest. Chaves may seem the danger, it will be joyful news, and many and hearty will be the laughs thereat. Far be it from any son of the old south to fail so far in chivalry to woman as to insinuate that this fair daughter of an American paleface has erred in the slightest in her statement that Albuquerque is a border town quite close to Columbus and the Big Bend region; and that time and again she has beheld the evidence of Indian massacres in the streets of that wild and woolly Albuquerque. If she says so, it goes. History records the revolution of the Pueblo Indians in this valley of the Rio Grande nearly two and a half centuries ago and no massacre since then. Possibly she was in Albuquerque at that time. This is giving her the benefit of any and all possible doubt. She says she saw the Indian massacres. The Indian stuff was pulled in 1930.

The Movie Theory.
There is one other way she might have beheld Indian massacres. Any one of Albuquerque's four good motion picture houses would afford her the opportunity, every once in a while, in the movies they do it. While Albuquerque really is not far from New York, she need not make the journey, which would take her away from New York for perhaps the greater part of a day. Pictures showing graphically the horrors of Indian butcheries may be seen in New York.

A Border Town.
Albuquerque, a border town! Possibly she means "border" in the sense of on the border of civilization—a frontier town. Her qualifying statement that it is but a short distance from the scene of the recent Mexican raids makes it hard to escape the inference that is on the Mexican border. The official Railway Guide, accepted as authority throughout the United States, shows the distance between El Paso and Albuquerque to be 218 miles. Both Columbus and the

The advent of hot weather has not influenced Holbrook Blinn to take life any easier. Just at present he is working at the World studio in "The Prima Donna's Husband," which will be released next month, and at the same time is co-starring with Margaret Anglin in "A Woman of No Importance" at a Broadway theater.

Like so many stars of the legitimate stage, Mr. Blinn hails from San Francisco. He was educated there and at Leland Stanford university. He first went into business, but soon found he could not be happy except on the stage. His rise has been gradual, but today his friends insist that he has earned the right to wear the histrionic toga of the late Richard Mansfield.

AN ODD "MR. GOODE," HOPPER ISN'T BAD.

"Mr. Goode, the Samaritan," is the title of De Wolf Hopper's third Tri- angle picture, which will be released the last of the month. Fay Tincher, previously the huge comedian's petite foil in "Don Quixote" and "Sunshine Dad," again has the principal feminine role.

Hopper is Alphonse Irving Goode, a philanthropic character whose wife and daughter are snobbish. Having discharged the chauffeur for some petty reason the Goodees start on a motor trip with the daughter, Evelina, at the wheel. She is soon replaced by her father and trouble begins. He stalls the engine and later throws the reverse, the car bumps a tree and catches on fire. Father, mother and daughter escape and start to walk the two miles to their destination. On the way they are picked up by a crook who has stolen a machine. He sells it to Goode, who is arrested for the theft and thrown into jail. Conditions here are so vile that he is moved to reform all jail. He invites a pair of crooks to a party, at which the man who sold him the automobile is also present. On this foundation Hopper and his associates erect an elaborate structure of fun.

"Aramadale," a screen version of Wilkie Collins' famous novel of the same name, will be the first of the new three-reel Gaumont features to be released through the Mutual. Iva Shepherd, famous "vampire," and Alexander Gaden are the featured players.

Big Bend district are further from Albuquerque than El Paso, according to the figures published by the railroads. Two theories are offered in explanation of this apparent discrepancy. One is that the railroads are honestly mistaken about the distance between Albuquerque and the border. Such an honest mistake would be in their favor, too. If Albuquerque is only fifteen or twenty miles away from El Paso, and the railroads can collect fare for 218 miles from each passenger traveling between the two points, how can the railroads lose on this kind of a deal?

The other theory is that the citizens of Albuquerque, through greed and supreme selfishness, have deliberately misrepresented the facts; have declared their town is not near to the Mexican border, and have furnished false statements to the railroad folders for publication. Imagine a body of citizens so steeped in sordid greed that they will deliberately inveigle tourists and other unwary strangers into the town of Albuquerque, for the sake of the dollars they may spend when it is a practical certainty that they will be butchered by the blood-thirsty Indians. Here is a case which ought to be prosecuted to the limit by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Women Who Disregard Health

If a woman disregards her health she is sure to pay the penalty in later years. Incessant work and worry unfit a woman as a helpmate and mother and bring on ailments which drag her to despair. The real help for all such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, nature's ideal assistant to build up and strengthen the female organism and throw off disease, as proved by the letters from women continually being published in these columns.

Mother love, which inspires an all-embracing sacrifice, is the theme of "The Courtship," a Mutual Masterpiece picture from the American studios. Eugene Forde, long a favorite with Mutual followers, is seen in the leading role—that of a mother who sacrifices all that her son may rise to political leadership. The piece was staged under the direction of Arthur Maude.

Douglas Fairbanks is now writing his own scenario.

PETROLEUM COMPANY MAKING HUGE PROFITS

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Zurich, Switzerland, May 19.—With imports of American oil cut off by the British blockade, petroleum companies in Germany have been unable to supply the demand, and the situation created by these conditions accounts for the enormous profits shown in the 1915 report of the German Petroleum company, just issued. These profits amounted to nearly $5,000,000, or a return of 65 per cent on the capital. Deducting payment of the government's special war-tax on profits, the net profits for the year were $3,500,000, or about 41 per cent on the capital.

The company has declared a dividend of 20 per cent, as compared with 12 per cent in 1914, when the profits were $1,655,000.

Of the 1915 net profits, the company set aside $200,000 for an association of workmen and others employed, and subscribed $200,000 to the national fund for the survivors of the war.

SMALL TENANTS MAY DODGE RENT BECAUSE OF WAR

New French Law Compels Landlord to Prove Lessee Able to Pay; Some Entirely Excused.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

Paris, May 12.—The law voted by parliament to regulate the settlement of unpaid rents accrued since the war began and to avert pending the termination of hostilities, estimated at 18,000,000,000 francs, exonerates arbitrarily from all obligation tenants paying from the equivalent of twelve dollars up to a hundred and fifty dollars per year, according to the importance of the town in which they reside. The landlord may, however, in such cases force payment if he can prove that the tenant is able to pay, the burden of proof being upon the landlord.

All tenants, whatever they are, are allowed by the law to refer their cases to the commissions of arbitration provided by the law and solicit reductions proportionate to the losses they have sustained through the war. The tenant in such cases must prove that the prejudice he has sustained places him in a position that prevents him from fulfilling his obligations.

Tenants who are mobilized and those that have exempted for wounds or illness contracted in the army are arbitrarily exonerated.

The provisions of the law apply to all rentals accrued since August 4, 1914, and to arrears up to and including the sixth month following the cessation of hostilities.

CADOMENE TABLETS LIFT YOU OVER THE WALL OF NERVOUS DISCONTENT AND WORRY

When the structures of the system are in perfect health they work without attracting attention or causing any alarm. The moment that any part of the system has become inefficient in functioning, or cries out in pain, then you know you have been attacked by nerve and tissue weakness.

You become conscious of an unnatural condition, your heart beats wildly after exertion or excitement, you suffer with nervous headaches, the nerves in the spinal cord, on account of their overworked, weakened condition, cause pains in the back, drawing at the base of the brain, irritability of temper, uneven mood, sleeplessness, cold clammy feeling, you lack will-power, energy and ambition.

Not only is the nervous system the seat of all intelligence, memory, reason or probability of the very soul itself, but every movement of the various structures of the body depends upon nerve action. Hence when the nerves suffer from debility or weakness, trouble is instantly felt in one or more of the structures. It is the chronic lack or derangement of function of these various tissues of the body which causes so much alarm, discontent and unhappiness. Close examination may disclose no trace of disease or pain, but nerve and tissues may not be working properly. Like an engine with insufficient fuel, the full supply of nerve force is not forthcoming.

Overwork, worry, dissipation, excesses, etc., are the keynote to nerve derangement. A perfectly nourished nervous system might go on indefinitely.

When CADOMENE TABLETS are directed to the nervous system the cause and origin of the disturbance is reached. By the tonic and nutritive action of Cadomene Tablets on the nerve and tissue cells every muscle, nerve and structure of the system are brought up to par and naturally restored to accomplish their normal work.

The mind brightens, muscular tone is increased, all the bodily functions are regulated, sleep is sound and undisturbed, and the excessive weakness of nerve and tissue weakness, discontent and worry are things of the past.

Cadomene Tablets are prepared in convenient form and may be carried around in the pocket or purse and taken regularly.

Obtain from any live druggist, in sealed tube, with full directions.
